Learner Information

Apprentices must eventually take the Certificate of Qualification Exam to get their trade credential or “ticket”.

Read “Preparing for Certificate of Qualification Exams”.

Preparing for Certificate of Qualification Exams

After you have completed all your on-the-job training and in-class hours, you still have to write a Certificate of Qualification exam before you become a journeyperson.

Each Certificate of Qualification exam contains 90 to 150 multiple-choice questions. Each question has 4 possible answers and only one answer is correct.

The certification exam is based on the Apprenticeship Training Standard for the trade, and, for Red Seal trades, on the National Occupational Analysis (NOA).

The Apprenticeship Training Standard and the National Occupational Analysis describe what a competent journeyperson is expected to do on the job. The exam questions cover:

- trade terminology and concepts
- why a task is done
- how a task is done

You need to get a score of at least 70% to pass a Certificate of Qualification exam.
